The right curriculum matters

What sets the Cleveland Institute of Art apart from other colleges of art and design? In a nutshell, our Cores+Connections make all the difference.

Strengthening your core. The word “core” comes from the Latin word for “heart.” At the heart of CIA is a focus on developing your core creative muscle through:

- mentorship from world-class faculty
- cutting-edge curriculum
- academic and studio rigor
- in our extensive state-of-the-art facilities.

Connecting to the real world. Made possible by a tremendous network of professional connections and educational partnerships, you will put your core strengths to work through externally engaged practices in art and design, including:

- hands-on learning beyond the classroom
- professional projects with real-world partners
- collaboration on creative solutions to real community needs
- asserting your artistic voice in the public sphere.

This unparalleled combination of our core strengths and connections to real-world learning best prepares you for the skills you’ll need in the 21st century—creativity, critical thinking, collaboration and communication.

CIA faculty teach from experience and success—as professors and professionals.

There are no large lecture halls at CIA—only small classrooms and individual studio spaces that allow faculty to mentor students, demonstrate techniques, and spend time listening and coaching. CIA faculty will expand your visual literacy so that you have a broader context for translating your talent into a career. Our professors will look at your development and growth through a professional lens, and will help guide and prepare you for life after graduation.

Living and creating with you. As artists and designers, their work is recognized nationally and internationally. Nearly all CIA faculty hold terminal degrees in their disciplines, and are dedicated to sharing their depth and breadth of experience with the next generation of creative minds. CIA faculty are also Cleveland residents, highly engaged in the city's vibrant creative community while taking part in national and international residencies to enrich their art and design knowledge.

Community matters

At the heart of a cultural hub. CIA's campus is in the heart of University Circle. Chosen by Forbes magazine as "one of the ten prettiest neighborhoods in the country," University Circle is home to over 8,000 students from Case Western Reserve University, the Cleveland Institute of Music, and CIA. You'll enjoy a wealth of art and culture that includes botanical gardens, a symphony orchestra, six museums—including the world-renowned Cleveland Museum of Art—and a planetarium.

The CIA campus is also part of Uptown, an exciting new development that includes restaurants, shops, the Museum of Contemporary Art Cleveland, and our new Uptown Residence Hall. Designed in consultation with CIA students, the hall houses first-year students in suites with two bedrooms connected by a shared workspace. Students enjoy an onsite print center, workout room, lounges, rooftop decks and street-level retail, including a commercial bowling alley.

Within a city experiencing a renaissance. Cleveland's restaurant, music and art scenes are receiving national attention, and many have attributed northeast Ohio's resurgence to its creative community.
