The materials are stored in the archives; advance notice is required to see these documents.

Revised lists are posted only when there are significant revisions; you may wish to check with the library staff for the most up-to-date information.

This is a list of storage folders in the publications collection and the boxes in which they are stored. Folders may have one or more items in them.

As a general statement, this collection contains printed materials produced by the Institute for
- the public such as admission materials, public program announcements, alumni newsletters, and fund raising solicitations
- significant internal events such as convocation and commencement
- distribution within the Institute such as student handbooks and departmental and constituent newsletters.
It does not contain digital publications.

Arrangements vary somewhat depending on the category; for example some items are organized by calendar year while others are organized by fiscal year (June - July).

ND stands for no date; if the item has no printed date but we could assign a date with reasonable certainty, that date is followed by a question mark.

CONTINUING EDUCATION includes evening classes, Saturday classes, young artists programming, summer classes, national workshops, and B.A.S.I.C.S workshops and became a separate department in the mid-1980s; as such filing of these items reflects that history. Earlier course schedules and announcements are mostly not separated out but included in COURSE OFFERINGS. This department has had several names: Continuing Education, Extended Studies, and Continuing Education and Community Outreach.

COURSE OFFERINGS generally refers to class announcements and schedules for specific semesters, whereas the college catalog is generally by academic year and lists major requirements as well as offered courses.

For the purpose of this classification, class offerings, announcements, and schedules for non-degree classes are included here until the separate Continuing Education department was established in the mid-1980s. The items in this section are filed by academic year, for example 1937/38. For filing purposes, the year of the summer course is treated as the first year of the academic term. For example, summer 1944 is filed under 1944/45.

One-time, special exhibitions (e.g. not regularly occurring faculty, staff, scholastic, alumni, or student), publications are organized alphabetically by person’s last name (if a one person, or sole identified person exhibition) or by exhibition title. Exhibitions of two or more artists or titles may be organized in one of several ways – an entry under each name or the exhibition title (with cross-references provided).
