

Institutional Cross Registration Agreement

Cleveland Institute of Art agrees to a cross registration arrangement with John Carroll University. Both institutions agree to abide by the following policy and procedures:

- Cross-registration is available to full-time students for the fall and spring terms
- Students may take one undergraduate course (plus accompanying lab, if required, with fees to be paid by the student) each term
- Students must be in good standing at the home institution
- The host institution determines the date when students are permitted to cross register
- Registration for the course is granted on a space available basis
- Selected courses are not open to cross registration
- The student may cross register in only one institution per term
- The host institution will send a grade report to the home institution upon completion of the term
- Each host institution retains the sole academic discretion to remove a cross-registration student from its class based upon a violation of the host institution's policies and procedures, and retains the sole academic discretion in determining the grade to be awarded to any cross-registration student for a class.
- Each institution shall indemnify the other for any claim, loss, damage, and/or action arising from the negligent acts or willful misconduct of that institution and/or its officers, employees, faculty, and/or agents.
